Context:

- Jesus said that nation will rise against nation foretelling a rise in nationalism as a sign of the Last Days
- This nationalism is where nations will rise up in their own self-interests that can cauae them to strive against other nations
- This rise in nationalism causes nations to promote their own self-interests striving against each other geographically, politically, economically, and militarily
- The prophet Daniel in his prophetic writings foretold the world empires to be in the history of human government
- In Daniel 2, Daniel interpreted and described the great image from the Babylonian King Nebuchadnezzar's dream from God
- This great image of a man represented the major empires in mankind's history to dominate or influence the world
- Each section of the image described by Daniel from the beginning of the head down to the end of the toes revealed empires, kingdoms, and then nations that will have prophetic influence in the world
- In the end at the last days the feet and toes with iron and clay that do not mix and adhere to one another represent national division and strife from an environment co-mingling political and religious leadership
- Nationalistic division and aggression in the last days leads to the conflict of wars and eventually to Armageddon as human governments fail

• At the end, the Stone cut out of the Mountain without the hands of man is the Messianic Kingdom of God when Jesus returns to earth to end war and fill the world with peace.
